

Techno Intelligence

By Doug Johnson

Notes

2010-08-26

- There is a battle between librarians and technology experts.
- “Technicians don’t make school policy.”
- Techies often don’t understand the needs of the school environment and usually don’t directly deal with students, so they continue to remain ignorant.
- Create a technology advisory group with stakeholders from teachers, librarians, parents, administrators, techies, and students so everyone can share their perspective.